IACN and ChiroCredit.com

The IACN Board of Directors have entered into an agreement with ChiroCredit.com, the world leader in Distance Education for health professionals. The agreement will allow some of the dollars spent on Continuing Education at the ChiroCredit.com to go to benefit the IACN.

Blues Anti Trust Litigation Update

"At $4.2 billion, Blue Shield's reserves are at nearly 1,500% of the state's minimum threshold. The company plans to draw on its surplus to pay for the acquisition. Even with that, the company said it would still have 1,012% of the necessary surplus."

For comparison, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Assn. requires its member plans to hold at least 375% of the minimum capital reserves to cover future expenses." LA TIMES

California tax officials blast Blue Shield in audit

By: Chad Terhune

LA TIMES - July 5, 2015

In a scathing audit, state tax officials slammed nonprofit health insurer Blue Shield of California for stockpiling "extraordinarily high surpluses" — more than $4 billion — and for failing to offer more affordable coverage or other public benefits. The California Franchise Tax Board cited those reasons, among others, for revoking Blue Shield's state tax exemption last year, according to documents related to the audit that were reviewed by The Times. These details have remained secret until now because the insurer and tax board have refused to make public the audit and related records.

Blue Shield's operations are indistinguishable from those of its forprofit healthcare competitors, the auditors found, and it should be stripped of the tax break it has enjoyed since its founding in 1939. The insurance giant does not advance social welfare, the key test for preserving its tax exemption, according to the records.

"Blue Shield is not operating exclusively for the promotion of civic betterment or social welfare," tax board officials Christie Maddox and Eddie Murillo Corona wrote to the insurer in a 16 page report sent June 3, 2014.

We have been informed by IACN legal council that the new IACN Bylaws will be completely revised and have IACN properly integrated into the Revised Iowa Non-Profit Act.

The Bylaws will be ready to post within the next week or two. The new bylaws fix dozens of problems created by the old bylaws, as well as allow the IACN to fully recognize the DIBE. Once posted, you will have 2 weeks to vote on approving the new Bylaws. You will receive separate notification when the Bylaws are posted for your review.

Once the new Bylaws are in place, we will be holding elections for all of the board of director positions. The directors will be vested at the 2015 Symposium Banquet Ceremony.
